

Jeremy Bradshaw, FACHE
CEO MountainView Hospital
President, ACHE – Nevada Chapter

Jeremy Bradshaw is the Chief Executive Officer at MountainView Hospital, a 340-bed acute-care facility in Las Vegas, NV.

Jeremy is a trusted healthcare executive with 13 years' experience in healthcare. He is recognized in the healthcare industry as a progressive strategist who drives market growth through service line development, with a constant focus on patient safety and on improving the patient experience.

He most recently served as Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Desert Springs Hospital, prior to which he held the role of Chief Operating Officer. Among Jeremy's accomplishments while at Desert Springs, he focused on patient safety, leading the hospital to receive an A rating by the Leapfrog Group, and significantly impacting the reductions of hospital acquired infections through continued focus and accountability.

Prior to his time with UHS, Jeremy was a member of the HCA family, working as Vice President – Operations & Cardiovascular Services at HealthOne – The Medical Center of Aurora, Colo. He also served as director of Medical City Dallas Hospital's transplant service line. He also has worked at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Min., as operations director over the transplant center, and as an administrative fellow.

Among Jeremy's many accolades are the 2014 Nevada Hospital Engagement Network Leader award for demonstrating excellence in patient safety and the 2014 Healthcare Personnel Influenza Immunization Silver Syringe award by the Southern Nevada Immunization & Health Coalition.

Jeremy earned his bachelors of science degree in business management from Southern Utah University. He received his master of health administration from the University of Minnesota.

Jeremy is married with five sons, and enjoys camping, hiking, and sports.